24th January 2017

Dear Parent/Guardian,

2017 is a very exciting year for Hull and we want our children to be at the heart of what is happening.

As part of Hull UK City of Culture 2017's No Limits learning programme, we will be using an amazing new site called Digitull. Digitull is a great way for your children to get involved and show off all the amazing work they will create this year! Whether it be poems or blogs, stories, videos, paintings, photographs or Challenge Hull entries, everything can be shared on Digitull.

Teachers have attended training on how to use the Digitull website. Every pupil has been given a password and log in to their own private website where they can upload their own content to Digitull. Teachers will review all work uploaded before approving it to go onto the school Digitull website. You can use Digitull at home so be sure to upload anything created that relates to the City of Culture. There will be weekly tasks available to take part in, so whether at home, school or on trips, your children can get involved wherever they are.

Alongside the school's own private Digitull website, Hull Children's University will be controlling the Digitull Explore web page where work from every child and school will be featured for the world to see, so please encourage your child to take part and do their very best work.

We can't wait to see how creative everyone can be. This is a fantastic opportunity to showcase our great city from the perspective of our children.

Yours sincerely

Mrs Graham
